Death number unceasing : Three more added

Three persons were died while four others were injured due to flood and landslide in different districts. Amrita Tamang, 13, a vegetable seller from Ranitar-2, Panchthar district who used to attend the weekly market in Phidim died on the spot after she was hit by a landslide at Mahabhir of Phidim-3. Amrita's father Tilbahadur Tamang, a pregnant Jagna Rai of Ranitar-2, Dhan Bahadur Rai and Niru Gurung of Ranitar-7 were injured in the landslide. Police and army teams dug out Amrita's body from the debris. The body was handed over to her relatives after post-mortem at the Panchthar hospital. Jagna's and Til Bahadur's condition is critical.

In Sunsari, 12-year-old Brijesh Kumar, son of Bindi Yadav of Ward No 4 in Narsingh VDC died while undergoing treatment in the district hospital at Inarwa. Brijesh was injured after he fell into the flood water.

In Bardiya, three-year-old Subash Tharu of Sukkhad in Thakurdwara VDC-3 of the district died after he was swept away in a flood.

Travails of Terai and Hill continuing

Hundreds of families in the Tarai and hill areas continue to remain displaced due to the flood and landslides. Incessant rain for a week has flooded Prangbung, Memeng, Chyangathapu and Sidin VDCs of the Panchthar district. Standing crops of maize, rice, millet and cardamom in hundreds of bighas of land have been destroyed. The district Red Cross unit said more than 25 families have been displaced over the last couple of days.

Nine houses crumbled in Ward Nos 7 and 8 of Chaudandi VDC of Udaypur district due to incessant rain over the last two days.

Meanwhile, inundation by the flooded Arohi and Janahi rivers continues to disrupt transportation along local routes near Bardiya National Park. Flood victims of Rajapur Tappu complained that they were still deprived of any relief supplies. According to Red Cross Society, flood has displaced 700 families in Rajapur.

In Saptari, flooding of the local Khado river since last week has waterlogged the Armed Police Force (APF) border security base camp located in Kunauli village. The 82 security men in the camp are forced to stay on the roof of the building since the last three days as the area was swamped under 4 to 5 feet of water. Kunauli remains submerged after the Bhim barrage was wrecked by floods three weeks ago. Locals also said that the area was swamped due to the dam built on the Indian side of the border.

In Dhanusha district, educational activities are at a standstill due to the incessant rain. According to the non-government organisation Asman Nepal 95 of the 103 schools in the district have been damaged due to the rain and flood. Harina and Shivkutti primary schools are completely damaged. More than three dozen houses were swept away by the flood in the Kamala River and dozens of others were badly affected due to the incessant rainfall for the past five days at Balhasaghara VDC.

The villagers in the eastern part of Dhanusha district are also victimised by the erosion and waterlog in that area. After the inspection of the affected area, Central Committee Member of CPN-UML Ram Chandra Jha said the floods during the third week of Shawan had swept away more than four dozen houses in the village.

Due to the increase of water level in the Kamala River, more than 175 families of Barerba have been displaced. If the situation did not improve, then the entire villages are sure to be displaced, said Jha. The flood has also affected Harine, Duwakot, Hapletba, Balaha Sudhara, Inwarba, Fulbariya and other VDCs.

The Kamala River that used to flow in between Siraha and Dhanusha district has changed its way and started flowing almost four kilometres away towards human residence. The nine villages have been surrounded by the Kamala River obstructing the daily movements of the villagers.

Nepal in food crisis : FAO

Food shortages loom in Nepal and other South Asian nations hit by torrential rains, floods and landslides affecting more than 28 million people, the United Nations said on Saturday. The food situation gives "serious cause for concern" due to loss of animals and unfavourable crop prospects following damage to recently planted crops, the UN Food and Agriculture Organisation (FAO) said on its website.

"Opportunities for replanting once the water has fully receded are limited as the sowing period of the main cereal season normally ends by mid-August in Nepal," it said.

Nepal's Tarai region which serve as the country's grain basket -- accounting for over 70 per cent of rice production -- have been hard hit. Although water levels have receded from the second week of August, thousands of hectares of agricultural land have been destroyed at the peak of the planting season and the outlook for production has worsened, the FAO said. Food shortages in the Tarai, which was also affected by drought and floods in 2006, are likely to worsen, the food agency added.

Flood-hit deprived of relief

More than 100 flood-affected families from Aurahi, who trekked 15 km to reach district headquarters Janakpurdham, have been deprived of relief. Government sources said relief is not being distributed in the rural areas due to transportation and security problems.

Many of the flood victims are being denied relief because their names are not in the list. The list was prepared much ago. Chief of the Social Development and Research, Ram Singh, said they have been distributing relief it received from the Caritas to only those victims whose names were in the list of victims prepared by the district administration office (DAO) and VDC secretaries. Flood victims, however, alleged that there was hanky-panky in the distribution of relief materials and that those with connections to politicians and officials were given

Our Words

Monsoon travail has re-emerged after a week silence. The symptoms suggest second session will not be less tougher than earlier. As per the scientists prediction western terai region of Nepal will suffer more.

Since few weeks, the fund raising activities for the disaster victims are much in vogue. The ranges are wide, from students to professionals, village level clubs to national institutions. It has generated millions of rupees which will definitely provide solace to the sufferers. But the utilization of those funds are questionable again. There is not proper mechanism that can ensure the right usage of the money. To curb on the situation, in some districts Chief District Officer have issued mandatory order for aspiring groups to inform about raised funds and its deliverance.

Unmanaged and random distribution of relief material is one of the major problem. As we have published report on 15th August, relief packages are still elusive for victims of Dhanusha and Mahottari. The victims of preference.

Dhanusha chief district officer Ramsharan Chimoriya said he had received a few complaints of irregularities in the relief material distribution had come in. Incessant rain over the last 17 days and subsequent flood has left 75 of the 101 VDCs of the district submerged. Some 35 VDCs among the 75 are very badly affected.

More than 50 houses have collapsed in Singyahi Madan, Nathpatti, Visharbhora, Lakk and other VDCs. (The Himalayan Times)

At least seven dead, five went missing

Floods and its consequences took seven lives and at least five went missing, as media claim today. Out of them three were from Mahottari district and two each from Chitwan and Sunsari. Three people were swept away in Bardiya and one in Mahottari, Bara.

In Mahottari, three children were killed by snakebites. Snakes are being swept by flooded waters resulting in fatalities. Deceased were sister Mamata Tatma (6) and brother Krishna Tatma (3) of Harinmarin-7. Six years old Sonu of Sugabhawanipatti VDC succumbed to death on a way to hospital aftermath of snakebites.

In Chitwan district, central terai, two persons were died of floods. Gopal Praja of remote Korak VDC was drowned by Lothar Khola on Friday. Similarly a middle-aged person, swept away by Kayerkhola, was found dead near the Basu Memorial Brigade in eastern Chitwan on Friday.

Floods swept away four houses at Dhubra of Jagatpur VDC and three houses at Kathar. Floods in the Rapti river have inundated over 5,000 houses in Kathara, Kumroj, Khairahani, Bachhali and Bhandara.

The swollen Riu khola today inundated a settlement of squatters at Bharatpur-12 and displaced 60 households. Floods have affected PLA camps under the PLA third divisions at Jutpani of Chitwan.

Flood in Sunsari district claimed the lives of two children, Thursday. Fourteen-year-old Rajesh Yadav of Narsingh VDC-4 and three-year-old Nandani Kumari Shah were drowned in separate incidents. Flood has also displaced over 90 families in Narsingh VDC. Kusaha, Haripur, Madhuwan and Prakashpur among other villages have been badly hit.

In Bardiya, one Indian national Taiwa Kureshi was drowned in the flood in Lalpur of Mahammadpur VDC-3 in the district on Thursday. Similarly, Janaklal Tharu, 18, of the same VDC went missing in the flooded Banjara River on Wednesday. In another incident, Rajesh Pun went missing on Tuesday after falling into the river from a steamer while crossing Goriya River at Kothiyaghat.

A report from Bara district said that in Mathurapuri village, the flooded Bagari river swept away a two-year-old child Santosh Mahara. In Taplejung, flood sparked by continuous torrential rain swept away nine-year-old Sapana Maden of Khamlung VDC-6 on Thursday. Her condition remains unknown as of Friday.

Banke and Sunsari had previously protested charging officials and political leaders on being partial while distributing relief materials.

The related sector actors should reckon on these circumstances and should initiate to redress it.

In our opinion, distribution should not utterly hinge upon the fund raiser discretion rather it should be delivered according to the needs. It will be far better than now if assistance to the disaster victims would be delivered through one door policy. It can promote proportionate distribution and avoid satiation and devoid.

East Nepal severely affected

In Rautahat, rainfall since the last three days washed away 10 houses of Madanpur VDC on Friday. Similarly, 51 families of Sonariya VDC of the district were displaced due to flood.

Meanwhile, in Saptari, rainfall since the last four days has triggered floods in different rivers of the district, displacing thousands of families here. Nearly 500 families in Mauwaha Belhi VDC have been left in a lurch after flood in Balan River dislodged a barrage there. Displaced locals have moved to the nearby Indian village of Laxmipur to take shelter. Twelve other villages, including the worst-hit Sakarpura, Rampura-Malhaniya, Komadhepura, Kobasain and Topa VDCs are completely under the grip of flood.

In Kailali, flood has disrupted the Lamki-Tikapur road section since one week. Villages connected to the highway are cut off from transportation and food supply.

In Dhanusha, different places of Jaleswor municipality and other remote villages have been waterlogged due to the flood. Over 1,500 people at three different villages in the district have been displaced in the past one week. Duwarkot and Harine health posts, situated near the bank of Kamala river in Duwarkot VDC have been completely waterlogged.

A report from Birgunj said that floods in Oriyakhola have inundated a dozen villages. Seven persons were injured on Friday when the flooded stream caused the collapse of a house in Parsa district. Ajaya Shah and Sanjaya Shah of Lahawar Thakari-2 were injured when incessant rains caused the collapse of a house today.

The flooded Sikta river caused the displacement of a police post at Budgai and the collapse of houses belonging to Dhanilal Pandit and Yogendra Shah Teli. Hundreds of bighas of land at Jayamangalapur, Bhikhampur, Janakitola, Sibarwa, Langadi, Biswa, Sikta, Lahawarthakari and Tulsibarwa villages has been swamped due to the floods.

Due to the floods and incessant rains, the road links between Birgunj, the district headquarters of Parsa, and rural areas has been severed. Floods caused displacement of 31 households at Nagawa and Inarwatole.

Every efforts will be rendered : Ministry

The Ministry of Home Affairs has reiterated that it has made arrangements so that there would not be any shortcomings of any kind in the efforts that have to be undertaken from the government's side for providing all kinds of relief necessary for the families affected by the irreparable loss of life and property caused by the natural disaster resulting from incessant rain in most of the districts of the country.

In an appeal issued Friday, the Ministry has stated that in this connection an amount of Rs. 76.7 million has been released for relief works for the affected districts from the Central Natural Disaster Relief Committee by classifying the intensity of the impact of the disaster and also by making adjustments.

Special directives have been issued and additional authority also delegated to the convenors of the District Natural Disaster Relief Committee and the Chief District Officers with a view that the rescue and relief works would not be hampered due

For the demand of relief materials, flood victims of Mahottari are regularly demonstrating in district head quarter Jaleswor.

32 districts of Nepal, out of 75, are affected by flood and inundation, according to the Home Ministry.

The lawmakers of Banke and Bardia, worst flood hit districts, asked the government to think about the impact of dams and barrages constructed by India along the border.

Staffers and the management of Spice Nepal Private Ltd, provider of Mero Mobile, have dispatched relief materials worth NRs. 426000 for flood victims.

Rainfall and flood destroyed seventy five percent of vegetable crops in Rupandehi.

in Mahottari, Madhesi Maitri Kendra, a civil society in the district working for the welfare of flood victims, postponed providing free-of-cost meals to victims, citing fatigues of their volunteers and lack of funds.

Armed Police Force (APF), Nepal handover NRs 2.5 million for disaster victims on 2nd August.

55 VDCs of Mahottari is affected from flood. Properties and infrastructures worth NRs 70 million has been lost.

Dharampur VDC of Jhapa suffered a loss of NRS 30 million.

Home minister advised the local administration to form an all sided team to carryout relief and rescue operations.

to the lack of means and resources, it is stated in the appeal.

The Ministry has also made it clear that an appeal has been made to the national and international humanitarian organisations and benevolent individuals on behalf the government for the maximum assistance at this hour of national difficulty.

It has expressed special gratitude for the assistance being magnanimously provided for the disaster-affected people by individuals from various walks of life and different social organisations.

The Ministry has also stated that it is active in collecting the details of the damage at the special initiatives of the Nepal Red Cross Society and in cooperation and coordination with the Chief District Officers and the District Natural Disaster Relief Committees of the disaster hit districts by taking into consideration the desire of the donors that the relief assistance reaches the genuinely affected poor families.

It stated in the appeal that sincere cooperation is expected from all sides in the task of collecting data on the real damage as the future action plan and the assistance to be received from the international community on its basis depends on how expeditiously this task can be accomplished.

The Ministry has also stated that complaints of the genuine victims of the natural disaster not receiving the relief assistance have come from several districts since the data on the disaster-hit people in several districts did not reflect the reality. It stressed that realistic information and data on the damage and the displacements is necessary for the rehabilitation and relief works.

In this context, the Ministry has appealed to all the political parties, social workers and civil society in the disaster-hit districts to extend necessary cooperation towards building an environment for transparency, smoothness and speed in the assessment and evaluation of the real damage in the districts.

Flood death toll reached 131 : NRCS

The death toll from the disaster triggered by floods in 21 districts across the country reached 131 as of August 15.

The flood affected altogether 44 districts and landslides causing viral fevers, diarrhea and gastroenteritis, acute respiratory infections, skin disease and eye and ear infections as well as other water-borne disease.

According to Epidemiology and Disease Control Unit (EDCU) under the Ministry of Health and Population (MoHP) medical teams treated 11189 cases in different districts out of an affected population 406587.

Dr. Manas Kumar Benarjee, focal person of the Disaster Relief Health Coordination Committee said all flood-affected districts are under daily monitoring and district health offices have been kept on high alert. But there have been no post-disaster epidemic reported to the committee. He said that 25 districts were affected from landslides, 21 from flood and 24 districts from exacerbation of cases or epidemics.

There would be immediate outbreaks in those districts. He said that there would be food and water borne illness like diarrhea, gastroenteritis, cholera, viral fever and hepatitis and vector borne diseases like ? malaria, Japanese encephalitis and dengue.

Danda dam and embankment unilaterally made by the Indian government inundated 6 VDCs of Rupandehi district.

Rainfall is significantly higher this year than 2006, according to Meteorological Forecasting Division.

Lawmakers blamed Indian dams for floods in the contiguous areas of Nepal.

More than 2200 dead in flood hit South Asia

NEW DELHI (AFP) - The death toll from South Asia's worst floods in 30 years topped 2,200 on Sunday (12th August) as torrential monsoon rains resumed in several parts of the sub continent, officials said.

The floods have affected 30 million people in India, Bangladesh and Nepal since the start of the annual monsoon season in June, and many are still dependent on food and drinking water provided by relief workers.

As survivors struggled to clean up their flooded homes, heavy rains again lashed five states in northern and eastern India, including hardest-hit Bihar and Uttar Pradesh, officials said.

In impoverished Bihar, where about 15 million people have been displaced and scores of roads remain submerged, 39 people died in flood-related incidents since Saturday night, officials in the state capital Patna said.

One of the victims was a man beaten to death by police Sunday after he joined a protest to demand food at a relief centre in Saharsa district, local administrator Niranjan Kumar Choudhry said.

Bihar chief minister Nitish Kumar asked Prime Minister Manmohan Singh for tens of millions of dollars in emergency aid at a meeting in New Delhi late Sunday.

"The prime minister assured his

There were 3,489 cases of gastroenteritis and 284 cases of cholera registered in Kathmandu Valley but no deaths were recorded.

Dr. Benarjee said that every district has mobilised Rapid Response Team (RRT) but there are five RRTs in Bardiya, six in Dhanusha, four in Mahottari, six in Banke, two in Sarlahi and three each in Bara and Parsa districts. There would be minimum six member's team with one medical officer in one RRT with essential drugs and food supplement, he informed. Presently there is no need to send additional medical teams to the districts, he said.

The Department of Health Services have already sent essential medicines to 32 districts and their regional medical stores currently have adequate supply of essential medicines, however, a new strategy, 'Flood districts with medicines,' has been worked out, Dr. Benarjee said. There are 55 kinds of medicines under essential drugs to the EDCD.

There should be stockpile of essential medicines at central, regional and district stores and provision of reserve teams to be incorporated into the EDCD plan, he said. "The district need to be supported as per their needs."

The high level coordination and action teams found out that no outbreak due to flood and cases of viral fever and diarrhea have been reported but not to a epidemic threshold. (Posted on 17th August, 2007)

Floods claimed four more lives

Binod Tharu, 12, a sixth-grade student in Prabhat Secondary School, was swept away by the swollen Chhoti river at Bankatuwa, Banke while he was returning home this afternoon. An unidentified body was found on the banks of Rapti river Thursday.

Incessant rainfall since the past three days has inundated Ganeshpur, Saly-anibag, Debafulfari, New Road, Belaspur and Dhambojhi areas of Nepalgunj.

Dev Narayan Yadav, 30, of Madan VDC-3 drowned in the Kamala river on Thursday. Continuous rainfall in Dhanusha for the last five days has swamped nearly six villages in the district.

In Saptari, the new born baby of Sangita Devi Yadav of Chikna VDC-6 died Thursday as the baby couldnot be taken to hospital because the areas remains cut off the roads. (Posted on 17th August, 2007)

ICRC urges access for humanitarian workers

Mary Werntz, Head of the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) in Nepal appeals for access for relief teams.

"The ICRC calls for humanitarian assistance to be delivered without obstruction. This assistance should be distributed solely on the basis of need, independently of all political, communal and other considerations. Humanitarian actors need unrestricted access to the people in need", stated in press release issued on Thursday.

A press release said, "since the flooding began, the ICRC has been regularly visiting all the affected Terai districts and has witnessed the latent desire by many to offer assistance to those affected. However, humanitarian action is being hampered by high water levels, damaged infrastructure, the calling of strikes and other interferences at the local level."

government will give all possible assistance to Bihar," Singh's spokesman Sanjaya Baru said after the talks.

In northern India, 15 people have died since late Saturday, including a television reporter whose jeep plunged into a gorge, police and officials from the privately-run Zee Television station said.

The latest deaths took the toll in India alone to at least 1,722, according to one official count, but that figure did not take into account those killed in numerous boat accidents in Assam, Bihar and Uttar Pradesh states.

At least 411 people have died in Bangladesh and another 99 in Nepal.

International organisations and foreign governments from Saudi Arabia to Canada have offered millions of dollars in aid, mainly for Nepal and Bangladesh, where some 40 percent of the land is under water.

Tens of thousands of people have been admitted to hospital this month with diarrhoea and other water-borne diseases, Habiba Khatun of the Bangladeshi health department said Sunday.

In Nepal, where 300,000 people were affected by the floods, officials said the first priority was to prevent a disease epidemic.

"We are in high alert regarding epidemic breakout from water-borne diseases in the flood- and landslide-affected districts," said Ishwar Regmi, an official at Nepal's home ministry.

350 families at risk in Banke

Up to 350 households in Chhitaipurwa, Tepari, Simrahana of Holiya village development committee Wards No 5 and 6 are facing the risk of soil erosion and flooding by Rapti river in Banke district.

Locals said they needed to be shifted as the threat of flood looms large. They said Rapti river has started eroding the road near the villages.

"The likelihood of the river inundating the villages is very high," the worried villager said. "Some 15 families of Tepari have already moved to India due the floods," Mishreelal Yadav of Chhitaipurwa said, adding, "Others need to be evacuated from here early." "All the three villages were inundated and crops were damaged, however, no body arrived to provide relief," Yadav said.

As dams stopped the water flow in Sotiya and Gandhali streams, villagers in Simrahana, Chhitaipurwa and Tepari villages are at risk. "We are finding ways to shift people to safer places on time," Banke Chief District Officer Narendraraj Sharma said. Floods has made lives miserable in the western region. (Posted on 17th August, 2007)
